Share Your Photos Night At the last business meeting of the year, our club decided to try something new at our meetings. Therefore, we will start having Share Your Photos Nights. The idea is for members to bring photos from a trip or any other shoot to share with members. The photos can be slides or prints that are displayed in the print box or small photos that are passed around. If the member wants comments, these can be provided. The hope is that this will provide an outlet for those who would rather not enter contests. It would also allow us to see more photos from field trips or vacations. These nights will only work if we contribute. Therefore, please consider bringing photos to these nights. by Howard Penn

The Eastman Kodak Co. has canceled its annual Kodak International Snapshot Awards (KINSA) photo contest. The contest started in 1935 and was the largest photo contest in the world. Two years ago Christina Lynn Hobaugh, won the grand prize in the contest. At that time she was a student at Broadneck High School and an active member of the Arundel Camera. She is the youngest person ever to win the grand prize. The Capital will continue with its own photo contest and will award prizes in nine categories: abstracts, action, famous sites in Annapolis and Anne Arundel County, humor, kids, nature, neighborhood, old days and pets. The first place prize in each category is $50.00. All photos must be received by the Capital by Sept. 13.
