Tony Sweet "Nature Photography"

The Club enjoyed the beautiful slides of Nature Photographer Tony Sweet on December 4th. He graciously explained how most of the images were visualized and enhanced by timing or filters before being placed onto the film. One tool often used are filters. Many members present were fascinated how using a Blue/Gold Polarizing Filter changed a scene from very nice to exciting. One thing stood out among the slides shown that we can all afford was that a lot of Mr. Sweet's favorite images were taken close to his home. This enabled him to use his camera on the best days at the best time of the day during unusual weather and in the best light. Tony showed on image of a scene in Worthington Valley taken in the Fall. Then he stated firmly, "I will have my camera at this same position tomorrow morning for the coming snow storm."

Mr. Tony Sweet so impressed his audience with his presentation that when he offered to autograph purchased copies of his recent book, a line across the room immediately formed. The book is titled "Fine Art Nature Photography, Advanced Techniques and the Creative Process". Information can be found on his website, www.tonysweetphotography.com

Anne Arundel County Schools were closed because the weather man said that we had an, ICE STORM

Club Holiday Party hosted by Mr. & Mrs. Calvin Gray

More than 30 club members with their spouses had a wonderful time at the Gray's farm in Centreville. Calvin Gray prepared venison, at least three different ways, all very, very good. Club members brought side dishes, appetizers, and desserts. Their home is gorgeous even before being beautifully decorated for the Christmas. The Holiday spirit was everywhere.

Our traditional small gift exchange was exciting. Everyone brought a small, sometimes large, wrapped gift to play the game. The Wilbur Bevan Memorial Cosmetic Tray Annual Appearance was a topic of much discussion. Holly Bevan was there to explain how years ago her husband Bill opened the "Cosmetic Tray" and returned it the following Christmas Party "Gift Grab".

" Photography Now" Exhibit at Anne Arundel Community College

Jaromir (Jarry) Stephany, photographer, instructor, University of Maryland, Baltimore County visited our club on December 4th and chose images from several members to exhibit in the Cade Center for the Arts Gallery, Room 218 at Anne Arundel Community College, West Campus, from Friday 24 January to Wednesday 26 February. Participating members include Bob Anderson, Mike Dulisse, Elizabeth Gauld, Ted Golczewski, Howard Penn, and Ernie Swanson as far as beginning about 5:00 AM which was going to get worse as the day continued. It was not a particularly bad storm and the sleet changed to rain before most photographers got their gear packed. Just about the time that the ice on the trees and bushes became interesting, it fell off in the rain.

The subject in the December Combined slide and Print Competition (PEOPLE for slides, Color Prints, and OPEN for Monochrome prints) will be rescheduled for a date to be determined.

December Field Trip Longwood Gardens Christmas Display

The Field Trip to Pennsylvania became a weekend break for several couples and a day trip for other members. There were 15 participants from our club by the editor's count. There may have been more. The weather was cold and crisp with sun on Saturday and diffused light on Sunday. It will be interesting to see the best of images created over two full days of changing light. We photographed 3 1/2 acres of heated Greenhouses and conservatories plus the outdoors filled with 400,000 lights strung on trees. We saw lighted displays of starry snowflakes, and roses and lilacs blooming in flower beds. The display included outdoor Theatre Fountains dancing to holiday music each half-hour and a lighted-fountain show after dusk. This editor had a camera fail and ended up pulling infrared film to put slides into that camera. Difficult when there is no dark anywhere. So much for traveling light. Everyone returned home tired but happy with the trip. Participants might even give a program of Longwood Garden Field Trip Images one Wednesday evening.
